

Personalized Art4Life® Program

Would you be interested in a no-cost, grant-funded, high quality, therapeutic, arts program if offered to Florida nursing homes?

The Thriving4Life nonprofit organization is partnering with a Florida university to make application to bring this quality program to nursing homes in the state. But it takes time, and we can't do it without you.

We're not asking for a commitment. We must show that nursing homes would be interested. Please help by completing the short interest form. There's no obligation. Thank you!

The Personalized Art4Life program provides a way to engage residents and help them stay connected – even during periods of isolation.

This dignity-promoting arts initiative can be offered in individual and/or group settings to offset the effects of isolation, trauma, PTSD, addiction, Alzheimer's Disease, cognitive, mental, developmental, or other impairments...and more. It provides an opportunity for any individual to create a visual representation of their innermost thoughts, feelings, emotions, and memories—an alternative form of self-expression!

From watercolor and colored pencils to collage, chalk and an array of other materials, this educational training for staff is a combination of listening, learning and a hands-on approach in how to start and sustain a successful therapeutic arts program that greatly differs from arts and crafts. Training can be provided on-site at your center or virtually.
